AI RECRUITMENT

Video interviews aren't as modern as you think.

Here's what most hiring teams are still getting wrong — and what's actually changed in 2026.

70%

of first-round screening interviews are with candidates who will never progress.

> That's not a pipeline problem.
> That's a signal problem.

What video interviews actually test

- ✕ How candidates think under pressure
- ✕ Real-time judgment and adaptability
- ✕ Actual competency in the role
- ✓ How well they rehearse — candidates re-record until they're satisfied

Talvin AI Agent

Voice AI works differently

01 Real-time, two-way conversation
Sally listens, identifies gaps, and asks contextual follow-ups — can't be rehearsed

02 Deliberate curveballs
Configurable drill-down depth per question: Low / Medium / High

03 Non-technical recruiters vet technical talent
Sally probes technical skills on your behalf — returns a scored shortlist

> It's like having 10 recruiters working around the clock.

APAC hiring has a camera problem

VIDEO REQUIRES

- A quiet, private room
- Decent lighting setup
- Camera-capable device
- Stable internet connection
- Confidence on camera

TALVIN AI

A candidate in Colombo, KL, or Jakarta completes the interview from their phone — on a commute.

No camera. No setup. No barrier.

94% of candidates couldn't distinguish Sally from a human recruiter
