

Talent was never the bottleneck

The real reason offshore hiring stalls at volume — and it isn't the size of the candidate pool.

 THE REAL BOTTLENECK

70%

of offshore hiring delays come from manual screening and slow candidate communication — not a shortage of qualified applicants.

— TIME-ZONE GAP

48 hrs

is roughly how long a strong candidate waits before taking another offer. A recruiter nine time zones away, replying the next morning, has often already lost them.

RECRUITER TIME

7-9 hrs

of recruiter time goes to admin — scheduling, reminders, follow-ups — per single hire. Not evaluation. Admin.

WHAT ACTUALLY FIXES IT

24/7

Adaptive AI voice interviews run around the clock, so a candidate in Dhaka finishes screening on their own schedule — not a recruiter's calendar in a different time zone.

WHAT CHANGES AT VOLUME

62%

faster time-to-hire and 30–45% lower first-year turnover for teams that replaced manual phone screens with structured AI interviews. One Sri Lankan conglomerate went from a 4–5 week manual process to 150 candidates screened in 5 days.

YOUR MOVE

Ask this before you scale

How many time zones can your screening run across?

How much of a recruiter's day is admin versus evaluation?

What happens to the candidate who applies at 11pm your time?

Book a demo — run it on your next offshore hiring round

Full breakdown → link in comments ↓