

3 signs your vendor isn't built for volume

What to check before you sign anything with an AI screening platform.

No published pricing

If you can't see a number before booking a demo, the price gets decided by how much you look like you can pay — not what the interviews actually cost.

One-size interview depth

Every question gets the same scrutiny. A recruiter can't set the AI to dig deeper on the one skill that matters and move faster through the rest.

---

 THE DATA

30–45%

The reported drop in first-year turnover when companies replace another interview round with a real role simulation instead of a script.

---

PROOF POINT

Board IT approval

One major financial institution put this exact model through its enterprise security review and cleared it for a company-wide rollout. Same standard: one Sri Lankan conglomerate screened 150 candidates in 5 days instead of 5 weeks.

— BEFORE YOU SIGN

Ask these three questions

- What's the price per minute of interview time, not per seat?
- Can I set drill-down depth per question?
- Do you have a real role-simulation feature, or just a script?

Built for volume hiring in APAC

Transparent per-minute pricing. Configurable AI depth. Job Tryouts that cut turnover. Link in comments ↓